Grief after the fatal earthquake in Bam, Iran

Earthquake Science: TU9 meet in India (11/27/2008)

The German TU9 universities stand for excellence in engineering - the RWTH Aachen, TU Berlin, TU Braunschweig, TU Darmstadt, TU Dresden, Leibniz University Hannover, the University Karlsruhe (IH), TU Munich and the University of Stuttgart are members of this exclusive group. At a joint meeting at IIT Madras in Chennai, India, they will now focus on the current state of research in "Earthquake Science" and aim to develop new perspectives together with their Indian colleagues. India is one of the world's most affected countries as regards earthquakes - the development of effective early warning systems has a huge relevance for the country.
